Women in history

Marie Curie née Maria Salomea Skłodowska

Polish-born French physicist, famous for her work on radioactivity and twice a winner of the Nobel Prize. With Henri Becquerel and her husband, Pierre Curie, she was awarded the 1903 Nobel Prize for Physics. She was the sole winner of the 1911 Nobel Prize for Chemistry. She was the first woman to win a Nobel Prize, and she is the only woman to win the award in two different fields.

Mata Hari byname of Margaretha Geertruida MacLeod, née Zelle Dancer and courtesan whose name has become a synonym for the seductive female spy. She was shot by the French on charges of spying for Germany during World War I. The nature and extent of her espionage activities remain uncertain, and her guilt is widely contested.

Alice Marble

American tennis player, known for her powerful serves and volleys, who dominated the women's game during the late 1930s.

Marble was introduced to baseball by an uncle and resolved to become a professional baseball player. Marble's older brother introduced her to tennis in the hopes of diverting her to a "less masculine" sport. She played the game aggressively and pioneered the women's serve-and-volley style of play.

Pocahontas

Indian woman who fostered peace between English colonists and Native Americans by befriending the settlers at the Jamestown Colony in Virginia and eventually marrying one of them.

Among her several native names, the one best known to the English was Pocahontas (translated at the time as "little wanton" or "mischievous one"). She was a daughter of Powhatan, chief of the Powhatan empire, which consisted of some 28 tribes of the Tidewater region. Pocahontas was a young girl of age 10 or 11 when she first became acquainted with the colonists who settled in the Chesapeake Bay area in 1600.

Sonia Sotomayor in full Sonia Maria Sotomayor Associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States from 2009. She was the first Hispanic and the third woman to serve on the Supreme Court.

Maria Montessori

Italian educator and originator of the educational system that bears her name. The Montessori system is based on belief in the creative potential of children, their drive to learn, and the right of each child to be treated as an individual.

Blessed Mother Teresa

Founder of the Order of the Missionaries of Charity, a Roman Catholic congregation of women dedicated to the poor, particularly to the destitute of India. She was the recipient of numerous honours, including the 1979 Nobel Prize for Peace.
